

THE PLANTER'S PALETTE 2012 CATALOG

The Planter's Palette is a unique nursery created to serve customers' needs for high quality landscape plants with a particular emphasis on flowering perennials. We also carry a wide variety of annuals, herbs, vegetables, shrubs, trees, and ground covers that can be used in any landscape situation.

The Planter's Palette currently grows over 2,500 varieties of plants, many of which are listed on the following pages. We consistently upgrade our selection, so if you do not see a plant on our list, please inquire.

All of our plants are grown in containers. This permits easy handling and allows us to grow a higher quality plant. Furthermore, container-grown plants can be planted anytime during the growing season—spring, summer, or fall.

We try to be as accurate as possible in our catalog; however, mistakes can occur. Due to availability and price changes from our suppliers, all prices are subject to change without notice.

We hope you find our catalog useful and informative. We are dedicated to helping people learn about plants, and our staff of trained horticulturists are always willing to help you with your gardening questions.

CULTURAL AND SPACING INFORMATION

COLOR Flower and foliage colors are affected by light intensity, mineral content of the soil, age of the plant, and other factors. Color is not easily described nor perceived by two people the same way. Please bear this in mind when reading our descriptions.

FERTILIZER Fertilizer is a substance added to the soil to improve the growth of plants. It can be granular or liquid. The composition of a fertilizer is designated by three numbers separated by dashes. For example a "5-10-5" listing means that the fertilizer is 5% Nitrogen, 10% Phosphorus, and 5% Potassium. Nitrogen (N) is used by the plant to grow leaves. Phosphorus (P) is used by the plant for flower and fruit production. Potassium (K) is used for root growth, overall health, and ability to go into dormancy.

Many plants benefit from an application of fertilizer in early spring after growth has started and every 3 or 4 weeks until August 15th. In northeastern Illinois it is best to not fertilize shrubs, trees, and perennials after August 15th. Some plants that need a lot of fertilizer are Chrysanthemums and Astilbe. Some plants that do well in poorly fertilized soils are Ferns, Sedum, and Artemisia. Follow package instructions for fertilizer application.

HUMUS (Organic Matter) Humus is decayed animal and vegetable matter that is often incorporated into garden soil to improve soil aeration, moisture level, and fertility. Excellent sources of humus include leaves, dried grass clippings, mushroom compost, and peat moss.

LOAM Loam soil is composed of a small amount of clay with sand and organic matter. In general, loam soil has a light, loose texture and is not sticky.

CLAY SOILS Clay soil is composed of very small particles of minerals that stick together tightly. It can hold a lot of water in the tiny pore spaces and prevent air from reaching the root area. A clay soil can be improved by adding organic material such as mushroom compost or peat moss.

MOIST, WELL-DRAINED SOIL A soil that the extra water percolates through and there is good air movement, but at the same time has sufficient organic material to hold moisture. Sponge-like.

DEADHEADING Removal of dead or faded flowers prevents unwanted seedlings and encourages additional flowering. Long stemmed flowers such as daisies should be removed at the base of the plant, stem and all.

SHADE Shade occurs when light is blocked by trees or a building. Little or no direct sun hits the area and it is lit only by existing light.

Partial shade means half sun and at least 4 hours of shade. The preferred time to have shade is in the mid-afternoon, when the sun is hottest.

Light shade is found under tall trees with open canopies, where the sun is not direct, but is filtered through the leaves, giving the area dappled light. A similar shade can generally be found on east-facing sites, where the sun is direct only in the morning and indirect for the rest of the day.

Deep shade is found in very dark areas of the garden such as under trees. In some deep shade areas, lack of soil moisture due to competition with tree roots can also be a problem.

SUN Plants requiring full sun need at least 7-8 hours of sunlight for them to bloom to their fullest ability. If a full day of sun is not available, the afternoon sun is preferable to morning sun. Many full sun plants will tolerate partial sun, but with fewer blooms.

Partial sun is at least half a day (5-6 hours) of sun. Again, the afternoon sun is preferable to morning sun.

Spring sun is the type of sun found from March through May when the sun has yet to reach its highest point in the sky and before the tree leaves are completely unfolded. Some early season wildflowers need spring sun to bloom

GENERAL SPACING GUIDELINES to use when planting perennials.

Perennials in #2 containers should be spaced 2-3' apart.

#1 containers should be spaced 18-24" apart.

Qt containers should be spaced 12-15" apart.

3.0 containers should be spaced 10-12" apart.

Hostas should be spaced at 1-2 times their height..

However, another good guideline is to space:

Large Hostas 24-36" apart

Medium Hostas 18-24" apart

Small Hostas 12-15" apart

Daylilies should be spaced 2-3' apart.

Ferns should be spaced 18-24" apart.

Wildflowers should be spaced 12" apart.

Another guideline for perennials is to space them at a distance equal to 1/2 their mature plant height.

CLEMATIS

Clematis vines prefer a rich, porous soil in a sunny to partially shaded site. A light application of granular fertilizer in early spring is beneficial. Ground cover or annual flowers should be planted near the base of the plant to keep the roots cool during the hottest times of the year.

Pruning and training clematis can be confusing. Some varieties flower only on the previous year's wood, others produce flowers on new growth, and some will bloom on both old and new wood. The following abbreviations are used in the plant descriptions to indicate pruning requirements.

A=Prune to shape or if plant gets too large; pruning may be done immediately after flowering; shorten all shoots which have flowered; blooms on old wood

B=Prune in late winter to early spring as buds begin to swell; dead growth should be removed and all other stems cut back to the first pair of strong buds

C=Prune hard to 3 feet or less in late winter to early spring as buds begin to swell

All Clematis are in #2 Containers

FERNS

Ferns add grace and interesting leaf textures to any shaded situation. They are highly useful ground covers in naturalized plantings, but can also be incorporated into rock gardens, borders, or shaded flowerbeds. Ferns enjoy humus-enriched soil and, once established, need little care. Some ferns are evergreen and remain attractive through late December.

Adiantum pedatum (Maidenhair Fern)

10-20" Fan-shaped, horizontally held fronds with green leaflets on shiny, black stalks; prefers moist, rich soil; native shade #1 10.99

Athyrium

angustum 'Lady in Red' 18-24" Vibrant burgundy stems sharply contrast with the blue-green fronds semi-shade #1 14.99

felix-femina (Lady Fern) 2-3' Leathery, bright green, wavy-cut fronds; evergreen; prefers a damp to slightly boggy, rich, organic soil; great for massing; native semi-shade #1 10.99

'Ghost' 24-36" Dark stems, silvery fronds; with a broad and tall rigid habit semi-shade #1 14.99

goeringianum 'Pictum' (Japanese Painted Fern) 12-18" Divided, silvery-green fronds are flushed with burgundy and are held on burgundy stalks; prefers an evenly moist, humus-rich soil, but tolerant of wet soils; color best in partial shade; 2004 Perennial of the Year part shade to shade #1 12.99

Dennstaedtia punctilobula (Hay-scented Fern)

15-30" Forms dense mats of delicate, light green fronds which smell like freshly mown hay when crushed; easily grown, tolerating widely varied levels of shade and moisture; tolerates drier soils better than most ferns; makes a good ground cover; native light to part shade #1 10.99

Dryopteris

erythrosora (Autumn Fern) 18-24" Arching evergreen fronds are vigorous and compact; glossy new growth is copper-red turning to bronze; leathery mature fronds turn shiny green by summer; hint of copper color in fall; prefers well-drained soil that does not dry out; can be massed as a ground cover light to deep shade #1 12.99

dilatata 'Crispa Whiteside' 18-30" Crispy, wavy, light green; Vase shaped semi-shade #1 24.99

filix-mas

'Crispa Cristata' 12-24" Very frilly ended fronds with a fluffy and upright habit semi-shade #1 14.99

'Parsley' 18-24" Crinkled, crested, robust foliage resembling parsley; vigorous; great for massing; tolerates moderate drought once established part to full shade #1 17.99

goldiana 3-4' Slightly arching, leathery fronds are 16" wide, tapering rapidly at the tip; fronds turn pale yellow in the fall semi-shade #1 14.99

marginalis (Leather Wood Fern) 12-24" Slightly arching fronds unfurl yellow-green and darken to a bluish-green by summer and rise from a broad, upright crown; prefers moist, organic soils, but can tolerate some dryness once established; good in rock gardens; native open to deep shade #1 10.99

spinulosa (Toothed Wood Fern) Crown forming fern with 18-30" deeply divided glossy fronds growing in an upright vase shape; deep green fronds turn yellow in the fall; native part to full shade #1 10.99

Matteuccia pensylvanica (Ostrich Fern)

2-5' Giant, vase shaped fern with lance-like rich green fronds resembling ostrich plumes; brown, spore-producing fronds emerge in summer and last into winter; forms large colonies by underground runners; robust and easily grown; prefers rich, moist soil; can tolerate some sun if soil is kept moist; good ground cover for steep slopes or damp areas; native light to part shade #1 10.99

Onoclea sensibilis (Sensitive Fern)

12-30" Broad, deeply divided leaflets, light green foliage; beaded, brown fronds turn russet with cooler temperatures and last into winter; thrives in moist to wet soil; adaptable and tough; fronds are good for drying; native sun to full shade #1 10.99

Osmunda

cinnamomea (Cinnamon Fern) 2½-4' Large, slightly arching, deep green foliage grown in vase-shaped clusters emerges early in spring; slender fertile cinnamon fronds rise from the center and disappear by mid-summer; slowly spreading and easily grown; thrives in wet, organic soils; can tolerate some sun if soil is kept moist; native sun to shade #1 10.99

claytoniana (Interrupted Fern) 3-4' Light green erect, arching foliage emerges in early spring; spores are clustered in the middle of fertile fronds, giving an interrupted look; tolerates drier sites, but plants will be smaller; slow to establish and very long-lived; native sun to shade #1 10.99

regalis (Royal Fern) 2-5' Large fronds with widely spaced leaflets resemble locust tree leaves; fronds unfold red, mature to deep sea-green, then turn golden-yellow in the fall; spores appear in clusters on the frond tips; needs constantly moist, organic soil; equally good massed or as a specimen plant; native sun to shade #1 10.99

Polystichum acrostichoides (Christmas Fern)

1-2½' Low, lustrous, arching, deep green fronds extend from a central crown; silvery spring "fiddleheads" contrast nicely with the evergreen foliage; used in floral arrangements; adaptable to many situations but prefers moist, organic soil; native light to deep shade #1 10.99

GRASSES

Ornamental grasses add graceful textures and interest to any garden. In general, they are easy to grow and are virtually maintenance-free. Most require full sun and are adaptable to a wide range of soils, although most prefer rich, moist soil. Because many grasses require hot weather to grow, many of these will not be ready for sale until June.

HOSTAS

The great popularity of Hostas in American gardens is well deserved because of their adaptability, limited maintenance demands, and wide range of foliage characteristics. Hostas respond well to deep, rich soil in shady situations and look best when grown in groups or masses. Our Hosta selection includes gold, variegated, green, and blue-green types.

LILIUM

Lilies produce their showy flowers from bulbs. They require full sun to part shade and well-drained soil. To avoid bulb rot, water must never be allowed to stand around them. Most lilies make excellent cut flowers and many are fragrant. Unless otherwise noted Lilies are in #1 containers priced at $10.99.

ANNUALS

The Planter's Palette prides itself on the selection and quality of tender perennials and annuals grown at the nursery. Over 700 varieties are carefully selected for performance and usage. The nursery carries past and present All-American Selection Winners, Simply Beautiful, and occasionally brand new test varieties that haven't been released nationwide.

TREES, SHRUBS, & VINES

The Planter's Palette offers over 300 varieties of trees, shrubs, and vines suitable for a range of landscape uses. Our emphasis is on flowering shrubs, and smaller ornamental trees. We search for exceptional or unusual woody plants with outstanding ornamental value. Most of our plants are offered in containers for ease of handling and can be planted anytime from April through October.

HERBS

A full selection of herbs for culinary use, potpourri, and landscape use are available. Below is a partial listing.

Basil - annual

Large tender leaves with an anise or clove fragrance and flavor. Used in Italian cooking or fresh in salads or pasta. Varies by variety from medium green to dark purple, curly or flat and some very compact and small. Types to try are: Sweet, Purple Ruffles, Siam Queen, or Spicy Globe.

Bay - tender perennial

Glossy, dark green leaves are used in soups and stews. Can grow into a small shrub if brought indoors every winter. Best grown in a container.

Chives - perennial

This onion-flavored perennial has grass-like foliage 12 to 18" tall and pinkish-purple, globular flowers in midsummer. Snip the flowers or leaves and use in salads, sauces, soups, on eggs, vegetables or potatoes.

Coriander/Cilantro - annual

Leaves (cilantro) commonly used as a flavoring (salsa) or garnish. Harvest leaves before flowering. Later the seeds (coriander) can be dried and used as a citrus-flavored spice.

Dill - annual

Tall blue-green threadlike foliage is beautiful in a mixed border as well as a tasty addition to vegetable dishes, fish, cheese or eggs. The lime green flowers are striking in the landscape or flower arrangements and the seed can be used in dishes such as soups and sauces.

Lavender - perennial

Sweet fragrance of gray-green foliage and blue flower spikes make it an important ingredient in many perfumes. Compact bushy plants make a nice low clipped herbal hedge or knot garden border.

Mint - perennial

Cool refreshing fragrance and flavor lends itself to summer beverages and cooking. Mint is a rampant grower so set up barricades to limit its spread. Types to try are: Peppermint, Spearmint, Pineapple and Lime.

Oregano - perennial

This spicy herb is essential in pizza or other Italian dishes. The small green leaves are an attractive mounding ground cover. Pretty pink flowers appear in midsummer.

Parsley - biennial

Traditionally the Italian type of this herb has been used in soups, stews, with pasta or cooked vegetables. The curly type is used to garnish food or decorate the edges of annual borders.

Rosemary - tender perennial

Narrow leaves are used in cooking, aromatherapy, or as an accent plant in the landscape or containers. The pungent, piney, mint-like flavor and fragrance blend easily with others. Uses and varieties are numerous.

Sage - perennial or tender perennial

Large group with wonderful oval foliage in shades of blue, gold, purple or variegated. Used in many types of cooking, crafts, cosmetics, in landscapes and in containers.

Thyme - perennial

A wonderful ground cover, this herb is used in Greek, Italian and French cooking. There are numerous varieties with slightly different fragrances, heights and flower colors. Spreads nicely in the cracks between flagstone.

PLANT LISTS

GARDENERS' NOTE Plants do not read our catalog. Many are very adaptable, therefore they sometimes grow in areas the catalog says they won't. They also bloom when we don't expect it, grow taller or stay too short, and sometimes they die, even when we do our best to care for them. Please let us know your experiences, so we can update our information.
